DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 06 November 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 46, 49-52, 75, and 136-139 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hieshima et al. (6,063,111) in view of Ken et al.

(5,749,891). Hieshima reference discloses an elongate containment member having both a wire and ribbon composition (see figure 2). The device of Hieshima is capable of being disposed about an aneurysm. However, Hieshima reference does not disclose a longitudinal guide member as claimed. Attention is drawn to Ken reference, which teaches a longitudinal guide member (210) with a straight proximal portion, a curved distal portion, and a port at a distal end (see figure 7B) used to contain (restrict) a coil-shaped medical device while in the guide member and allowing it to relax when released from the guide member, thereby providing a delivery device with a substantially reduced diameter leading to a more minimally invasive procedure which reduces healing time after a surgical procedure. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the guide member of Ken to deliver the containment member of Hieshima to minimize the invasiveness of the procedure thereby reducing healing time after a surgical procedure.

4. Regarding claims 136 and 137, the combination of Hieshima and Ken references does not disclose the guide member sized as claimed. However, it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, it is not inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation." In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955)

5. Regarding claims 138 and 139, Ken reference shows the curved portion of the guide member bends at approximately 90 degrees, thereby creating deflection points on both the inside and the outside (left and right, respectively) of the bent portion.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 06 November 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant asserts that Hieshima reference does not disclose the containment member is placed about the aneurysm and vessel. However, this is merely intended use. Hieshima reference discloses the same structure as claimed by applicant. A device can not be determined patentable based merely upon it's intended use when the entire structure of the application is present in the prior art (as is the case in the present application).

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US Patent 5,603,720 to Kieturakis shows it's well known to have a helical wrap member placed about a vessel.

8. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

9. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
